(New students must be accepted for admission before any aid is offered.) You must accept or decline each award. If your award letter contains a Federal Stafford loan, you must also apply for the loan by following the instructions on this website. If you still owe a balance after your financial aid is applied, a dependent student's parent may choose to be considered for a Parent Plus loan.

By accepting your financial aid you are certifying that you have read and understand and agree to comply with the terms, conditions, and policies governing any financial aid you receive and will need to maintain Satisfactory Academic Progress in order to remain eligible for financial aid. Any financial aid award may be adjusted due to a change in enrollment status, residency status, receipt of additional resources, verification or oversight.
